RenewData® Ranked as Top Provider in Socha-Gelbmann Electronic Discovery Survey Report for Fourth Consecutive Year

Prestigious ranking validates RenewData's strength in client satisfaction and quality

AUSTIN, Texas – July 22, 2008 — RenewData, a leading provider of e-discovery and electronically stored information risk management (ESIRM™) services, today announced it has been ranked again for the fourth consecutive year as a top provider in the 2008 Socha-Gelbmann Electronic Discovery Survey Report. This ranking validates the strength of RenewData's continued focus on complete client satisfaction and delivering world-class quality results.

RenewData was also ranked as a Top Provider in five other service provider categories including Capacity, Law Firm Rankings, Corporate Rankings, Preservation, and Processing. The survey report, which is conducted yearly by Socha Consulting LLC and Gelbmann & Associates, examines the state of electronic discovery, compares this year's results with results from the preceding five years, and makes projections for 2008 through 2010. Results of the survey are based on data which is gathered from electronic discovery services providers, law firms, and corporations through interviews, research findings, and a self-paced survey spreadsheet.

Service providers are ranked based on a set of criteria including; experience and reputation, capacity, types of services, software usage, law firm rankings, corporate rankings, and revenue estimates. Final results are based on a weighted combination of the criteria results. The top providers are listed in alphabetical order in the report, without indication of individual ranking within the group.

"We are very proud of our achievement of being ranked a "Top Provider" for the fourth year in a row and we want to thank our clients and partners without whom this would not be possible," said Steven Horan, RenewData CEO. "The Socha-Gelbmann Electronic Discovery

Survey is certainly the leading e-discovery industry research report and this notable ranking is proof that our commitment to our clients has been successful."

The 2008 Socha-Gelbmann Electronic Discovery Survey is an independent survey conducted by two independent consultants, George Socha and Tom Gelbmann. The full Socha-Gelbmann Electronic Discovery Survey may be purchased at, <http://www.sochaconsulting.com/2008survey.php>
